The inspired leader

Role: Head of a team, business unit or organisation

Your challenge

You're proud of how positively your team has adapted to working between the home and office. Video calling and conferencing have gone a long way towards maintaining team unity and keeping quality of work high.

But you believe a happy team is a successful team. It's obvious everyone is frustrated with the complicated video meeting software IT has told them to use. So when something's not right, you fix it.

The StarLeaf impact

You switch your team over to StarLeaf messaging, meeting and calling via a simple online download. Straight away, your people are connecting and organising themselves more easily. No more hunting through buttons and menus to do simple stuff. No more jumping from app to app. Now you and your team can:

- Make voice and video calls with a tap or click
- Schedule, lead and join video conferences for up to 100 people in seconds*
- Review work, share and make plans, and keep in touch, in one-to-one and group chats

Because your team are balancing work with other commitments, and aren't always at their desks, they'll love how everything's just as easy on their mobile devices.

What you can achieve

- Keep everyone happy and productive for the long term, wherever they're working, which will be great for your business.
- Make team-working effortless and instinctive, with a tool everyone understands, and which requires no training.
- Enjoy industry-leading uptime and reliability, so poor audio quality and dropped connections are a thing of the past.

"Everybody wants to use StarLeaf, for everything. In a huddle room, a conference room, on a PC, so they can see each other. It makes it really, really efficient for us to conduct our business."

The human connection at work

The productivity hero

Role: Professional, operational, administrative

Your challenge

Even with the added challenges of working between the home and office, people admire your can-do approach, and for tackling every project with energy and enthusiasm.

But with relentless time time-pressure and a long to-do list every day, the last thing you need is complicated video collaboration software when you just want to hold a meeting, share work or make a call. If a free phone messaging and calling app can be so simple, why shouldn't professional business software be the same?

The StarLeaf impact

As soon as you download a free trial version of StarLeaf, it will start making your life easier. Messaging, video meetings and voice calls are all in the same place on your desktop and mobile devices. So you can keep in touch with everyone and keep projects moving in the way that feels most natural. No more frustration, calls to IT support, or feeling left out. Just an easy way to:

- Call via voice and video simply by tapping a contact
- Schedule formal video meetings, or add any number of people to your video calls on-the-fly
- Chat individually, or in groups, for fast and transparent decision-making.

What you can achieve

- Get more done, more easily, with everything you need to organise your day and work with your team-mates in one incredibly simple platform and mobile app.
- Increase inclusiveness: everyone from tech wizards to technophobes can pick up StarLeaf in moments.
- Impress your colleagues by showing them an easier way to work collaboratively from anywhere.

"In our business, providing the highest levels of service to our clients is how we set ourselves apart from the competition, and StarLeaf's communication solution is playing a key role in enabling us to do this and ensuring we retain clients."

Graham Seddon, Partner, Menzies

The IT legend

Role: IT Director, Head of IT, IT Manager

Your challenge

At first, the video meeting and collaboration solution bundled with your productivity software subscription seemed the best way to help remote workers stay connected.

But configuring devices, security policies and updates is an endless headache. Confused end users make constant demands on IT for support, even though they only use a fraction of the solution's functionality. And now that video meetings are a mission-critical communication channel, end users expect the highest standards of service quality and availability.

The StarLeaf impact

As a SaaS messaging, meeting and calling platform that you can deploy to 000s of endpoints in minutes, StarLeaf immediately starts lightening IT's load. Azure AD integration means everyone can start collaborating with their team-mates right away.

Just as important, StarLeaf exceeds expectations in the most important technical areas, including:

- An industry-leading 99.999% uptime guarantee for reliable and resilient service quality
- ISO/IEC 27001 accreditation for assurance your data is protected to the highest standard
- Control over data sovereignty to help you meet your compliance and legal obligations.

What you can achieve

- Support blended home- and office-based working with a service that lets people collaborate productively wherever they are
- Help your business embrace the future of work by extending StarLeaf into huddle spaces and breakout zones as well as formal meeting rooms
- Reduce demand for IT support so your teams can focus on more important and strategic projects
- Ensure business continuity for video conferencing with an industry-unique SLA that guarantees no more than 5.5 minutes of unscheduled downtime per year

"It really comes down to having a system that we don't need to monitor 24/7... It's a one-touch solution for us."

Anoop Vadher, IT Infrastructure Manager, Condeco
